Scope of Work

City of Cape Coral - North Reverse Osmosis Plant

GM (Charles) going back and forth with emails and phone calls with the fire Marshall initially allowing United Safety and Alarms to use their own license to pull the permit. This also included contacting the top fire Marshall in Tallahassee with several emails and phone calls to try to resolve the interpretation with Cape Coral Fire Marshall. Additionally this includes approximately 6 hours of dedicated time to try to find a License D holder according to the Fire Marshall, which was his interpretation of the required license. This also includes emails to a variety of companies who stated that the licensed United Safety and Alarms had was sufficient, and they would not allow us to use their License D. Alan our permit coordinator spent many hours trying to get the permit approved only to have it stopped by the Fire Marshall several times. Once the Fire Marshall agreed that United Safety and Alarms could pull the permit the permit was finally issued. Time spent looking for License D holder, companies with qualifications that could take over the project and the techs tring to get the work done with out permitting.
